

Ajaxo Offers Web Service for Consumers to Shop Local and Save

SAN JOSE, CA--(Marketwire - September 22, 2009) - Ajaxo, Inc. announces the availability of a "shop local and save" Web service that enables consumers to search for the best bargains on groceries and services in their community. The service is free and requires no sign-up.

Ajaxo.com provides a free cloud service to merchants, allowing them to post their latest deals and offerings to their community. Merchants can expand their presence by adding premium content and increase visibility to neighboring locales on a subscription-fee basis. Currently available in Northern California, Ajaxo.com is recruiting independent operators from coast to coast to expand the service to cover all 50 states. The Ajaxo independent operator program is a perfect match for entrepreneurs who are seeking for business opportunity with plenty of rewards and no financial risk.

"The Ajaxo.com Web service will help consumers save hundreds of dollars on their food budget," said Connie Chun, Vice President of Ajaxo, Inc. "Ajaxo.com is the first of its kind in the way it helps consumers connect with local businesses, countering online e-commerce offerings. Business listings on the Web are popular among search engines and online media portals, but none of them provide the level of service to consumers or local businesses that Ajaxo.com does."

About Ajaxo

Ajaxo is a software company formed in 1999. Ajaxo stands for "Advanced Java Architecture for Extensible Objects." Ajaxo designs and implements simple to use software platforms for both wire and wireless Internet applications. Its mission is to bring Internet software technology to everyday life, making it simple to use so that organizations and individuals can realize it through productivity gain.

The latest "Shop Local and Save" Web service is created with our flagship technology platform "DOLFIN," to deliver consumers the advantage of price comparison in grocery, product, and services in their local community via the Web browser using wired Internet, iPhone, or smartphone.

For more information, contact:
Connie Chun
408-298-1021 ext 12
connie@ajaxo.com